March 2020- August 2020

When the pandemic first started I was happy it was 2 weeks out of school it was like a vacation, but after the 2 weeks turned into 4 and the 4 turned into 6 I started to get less and less happy over time. It went from a fun vacation to a stressful life full of online learning that everyone didn't know how to do and then we had to start wearing these stupid mask things everywhere we go. Nothing was open expected grocery stores and gas stations, it was bad. I personally didn't think it would last that long I thought we would have 2 weeks off and then everything would be back to normal, but I was wrong. When seventh-grade first started I was hoping it was going to be normal but it sucked. We were only able to come into school 2 days a week and who you wherewith would be based on your last name. You had to have a mask on 24/7 and it was just really bad. Teachers would have to teach kids on the computer and in person.

June 2021- September 2021

Personally, I never got used to wearing a mask, I mean 7th grade is about to over and not much has gone back to normal. Little things like you don't have to wear the mask outside but other than that it still sucks. For my class, we dont have any online kids but for others, I think they still do. I just hope in the future that everything goes back to normal, this pandemic has been a mess to say the less
